Indiana State Fairgrounds

1986

Greetings:

Welcome to a great Hoosier Celebration, the 1986 Indiana State Fair.

It is my hope that as you visit this year's fair, you will take a moment to consider the rich heritage of Indiana agriculture. Since our admission as a State in 1816, agriculture has had a major impact on all of our citizens. Much of our culture is rooted in traditional values passed on to us by our forefathers. Values that make us proud to be Hoosiers.

It is that same pride and progress that will lure everyone who has ever lived, worked or attended school in Indiana to "come back home again" in 1988 for Hoosier Celebration 88. In that year, the celebration of Indiana's agricultural heritage will be in full bloom.

Whether urban or rural, whether yesterday or tomorrow the exhibits and competitions you will witness during the State Fair represent an important part of all of us. Take full advantage of what this great exposition has to offer and has to say about our great past and our promising future.

Sincerely,

Robert D. Orr
ROBERT D. ORR, Governor

Welcome:

Indiana's favorite showcase for agriculture, the Indiana State Fair, has also kept pace with progress in industry, science and the arts. A visit to our Fair is an educational experience for all.

The spirit of family fun is strong this year, too. From the traditional livestock competitions, to our favorite special events, to our newest, most innovative entertainment attractions, there's fun for every member of the family here.

The hard work and dedication of everyone involved with the Fair—Board members, exhibitors, volunteers and visitors—is demonstrated by our consistent ranking among the top 10 fairs of North America.

So, come and share the spirit of the 1986 Indiana State Fair.

Sincerely,

Kenneth E. Sherbahn

KENNETH E. SHERBAHN, President
